Henry Lovin has gone to Los Angeles, where he will visit with his family for a week.

Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick, of Prescott, is visiting with Mesdames E. L. Lee and K. K. Lake, in Kingman.

Kean St. Charles is returned from Los Angeles, where he had been visiting with his family and attending to mining matters.

Old Chief Sherum and many of his tribe have gone to Fort Mohave, where a combination pow-wow and medicine cry will be held.

Dr. W. E. Sauls returned Wednesday morning on the flyer from the east. He visited the eastern seaboard during his absence and had a delightful time.

The Mohave county delegation to the democratic convention at Prescott departed to that city Thursday night. The delegation was composed of E. F. Thompson, J. S. Kolar, Dr. J. R. Whitesides and Harvey Hubbs. The delegation was instructed for Mark Smith.

Last night one of the greatest displays ever seen in the heavens in this section of Arizona accompanied the rain storm. The flashes of lightning were almost continuous for an hour or more. Only a small amount of rain fell, but it served the purpose of cooling the superheated atmosphere.

Elsewhere in this issue we are publishing the announcement of W. E. Moroney as a candidate for district attorney before the democratic county convention. Mr. Moroney is a young man of sterling integrity, learned in law and if elected to this honorable position will give the people the service at his command.

Mrs. J. C. Potts has gone to Needles to attend the wedding of her daughter, Mrs. Lallah Woods, to a gentleman of that place. The wedding took place last night at the residence of Mrs. G. S. Briggs, a sister of the bride. Mrs. Woods was born and raised in this county and is one of the handsomest and most amiable of Mohave's daughters. Her host of friends in this county wish her a long life of wedded happiness.

W. A. L. Tarr, at one time Santa Fe agent at Kingman station, but now of Manueltito, New Mexico, has written General Manager Wells, of the Santa Fe, describing the beauties of Wallapai mountain and urging that the company build a road in there and make it one of the attractive places of the great railroad system. His description of the scenery of the mountains is very interesting and should attract the attention of the railroad people to the possibilities of a resort among the pine clad hills.

Lon. Wells, who came up from Yucca this morning, states that miles of the country in and around that town has been located by oil enthusiasts. He says that the oil in the deep has put the pumping apparatus out of commission. This well has a compressor attachment which cannot work only on pure water. The other well has a jack head pump, which is removing about two barrels daily from a shallow well. Mr. Wells is firm in the belief that there is sure enough oil in the Yucca country, aside from that hauled in there by the railroad company.

Attorney General E. S. Clark was in Kingman Monday last on legal business connected with the county poor farm project and some sheriff's sales. In talking of the political situation in Arizona General Clark mentioned the name of Frank Hubbell, of Apache county, as a possibility for the republican nomination for delegate to congress. Hubbell is one of the best known republicans in the eastern part of the territory, but his former advocacy of joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico will not endear him to the people of this territory in general. The republicans have many brainy men in the party that would be more acceptable than the man from Apache and it is probable that some one of them will be the nominee.

Grant and Jerry Elmore have been at work on a well in the foothills north of Kingman and at a depth of less than sixty feet have struck a strong flow of water. The well is to be continued to a depth of more than one hundred feet. It is the intention of the gentlemen to take up a ranch and irrigate garden and fruits from their well and dry farm for small grain and alfalfa.

A. H. Gunnett, superintendent of the Children's Home Society for Arizona, has been here several days looking up homes for children. He states that the society cared for 170 homeless waifs last year and found permanent homes for many of the foundlings. During the month of June eight children were placed in good homes in Arizona. Any reputable family can get one of these children to raise and three months trial of the child will be given before permanently establishing it. The home is purely charitable and is kept up by contributions from those whose sympathy extends to the little ones whose parents are unfit for the proper rearing of children.

Posted upon the wall of the shaft-house of the Ophir mine at Virginia City is a notice to the miners, informing them that all receipts over 50,000$ a month, which is about the present income of the mine—10 per cent will be set apart to be divided among them and the other employees. The notice very frankly informs them that the offer is made as an incentive to increased effort in getting out the ore, the discovery of new bodies of ore and the development of the mine, generally. It is signed by Charles Fish, president of the Ophir Company.—Virginia Chronicle.

Scott Hickey, an old-time prospector in the Gold Circle district, has made a strike about ten miles from Midas, near the head of Rock creek, that is attracting considerable attention. It consists of an alluvial deposit of gold, bedrock being reached at a depth of from four to six feet. Hickey has installed a sluice box, and the first clean-up has been very satisfactory.—Elko Free Press.

A search for oil near Blair, Ariz., is quite likely to develop something in the way of mineral deposits in unsuspected places. One such instance has been reported from the vicinity of Minnesota Springs, that, to judge from samples taken, is likely to prove a whale. Tony Laguna and a couple of others, ran across a ledge while locating oil lands, that looked good to them and they broke off a few pieces for testing.

Their surprise may be imagined when assay returns gave values of about 300$, equally divided between the white and yellow metals. No time was lost in getting back to it, and a number of claims were located along the ledge.

James Britton and J. J. Connelly have been prospecting in the foot hills of the Wallapais mountains, near Kingman, the past week.

Work is being pushed on the Holy Moses mine, near Goldflat, by the company holding a bond and lease. It is reported that water is making fast and that the ore is coming in larger and richer with depth.

F. H. Stull returned Monday last from Needles, where he sold a big carload of ore from the Lucky Boy mine. The ore worked up to standard and he received a goodly sum of money. Henry Lovin is interested with Mr. Stull in the Lucky Boy lease.

J. W. Guinn came in from his mines in the Grant & McGeary wash section last Thursday evening. Mr. Guinn has been at work on these mines the past two months and claims to have a splendid showing of ore. The veins are large and show an outcrop for a mile or more across the foothills of the Wallapais.

John Temple Graves, vice presidential candidate of the Hearst independence league, is one of the editors of the New York Journal, while Hisgen is a writer on the Hearst paper in Boston, which leads Tom Watson, populist candidate for the presidency, to deery the personally owned and personally conducted candidates and policy of the Hearst party.

Mohave county abstract of assessment shows valuation of 1,619,098.11$, an increase over that of last year. The mining assessment shows a decrease, but the increase is made up of other property, such as milling and other machinery and buildings, and increase of realty values.
